

Esta lista de recursos online se circunscribe al estudio histórico-crítico del hermetismo y campos relacionados, con especial referencia a la Antigüedad Tardía (concretamente, la Historia del Pensamiento en el Mediterráneo oriental) y el Renacimiento (concretamente, la Historia de la Ciencia en Europa). Hemos reflejado aquellos proyectos, investigadores y publicaciones especializadas que, consideramos, presentan una mayor utilidad en el estudio multidisciplinar del hermetismo teórico-práctico. Nuestro objetivo no es publicar una lista exhaustiva de recursos online, sino un punto de partida útil y ordenado para los aficionados y estudiosos de la materia.

Si es usted un investigador o editor cuyo campo de estudio se circunscribe tanto en la perspectiva histórico-crítica adoptada, como en el conjunto de materias acotadas, no dude en ponerse en contacto con nosotros (ivanelvira@studiahermetica.com), con el fin de que valoremos su inclusión. Naturalmente, si no desea verse reflejado en esta lista, háganoslo saber y retiraremos sus datos. Igualmente, si su filiación académica ha cambiado.

Actualmente (2018-), los países que cuentan con una mayor tradición en el estudio histórico-crítico de la Historia de la filosofía hermética, centrándonos en todo momento en la Antigüedad y el Renacimiento, son Italia, Francia, el Reino Unido y los Estados Unidos. En menor medida, Alemania, Bélgica y Holanda. Obviamente, cuando vinculamos a un investigador cualquiera a un determinado país, lo hacemos en razón de su filiación académica, no de su nacionalidad.

Este documento no reviste la forma de un artículo académico; su propósito principal es el de servir de apoyo para el emprendimiento de estudios serios sobre las materias listadas, por lo que estará sometido a constante revisión.

El Sr. Rodríguez Guerrero, editor de la Revista Azogue, publica en su actual blog recursos relacionados con la Historia de la Alquimia, con idéntico ánimo:

<https://buscandolapiedrafilosofal.wordpress.com/>.

Campos de investigación abarcados: Coptología, Egiptología, Historia de la Antigüedad Tardía, Historia intelectual del Renacimiento, Estudios bizantinos y neogriegos, Historia de la Alquimia, Historia de la Magia, Historia de la Astrología, Historia del Hermetismo, Historia del Medioplatonismo y el Neoplatonismo, Historia de la Ciencia, Epigrafía y Paleografía griegas y latinas, Arqueología del Egipto helenístico-romano, Historia de las religiones.

Fecha de actualización: 31 de diciembre de 2018.

This list of online resources is limited to the historical-critical study of Hermetism and related fields, with special reference to Late Antiquity (concretely, the History of Thought in the Eastern Mediterranean world) and the Renaissance (specifically, the History of Science in Europe). We have reflected those projects, researchers and specialized publications that, we believe, display a greater utility in the multidisciplinary study of theoretical-practical hermetism. Our goal is not to publish an exhaustive list of online resources, but a useful and orderly starting point for amateurs and scholars in the subject.

If you are a researcher or an editor whose field of study is circumscribed both in the historical-critical perspective and in the set of mentioned areas, do not hesitate to contact us (ivanelvira@studiahermetica.com), so we will appraise your inclusion. Naturally, if you do not want to be reflected in this list, let us know so we will withdraw your data asap. Also, if your academic affiliation has changed.

Currently (2018-), the countries that have a greater tradition in the historical-critical study of the History of Hermetic philosophy, focusing at all times on Antiquity and Renaissance, are Italy, France, United Kingdom and the United States. To a lesser extent, Germany, Belgium and Netherlands. Obviously, when we link a researcher to a specific country, we do so because of their academic affiliation, not their nationality.

This document is not in the form of an academic article. Its main purpose is to provide support for the undertaking of serious studies on the listed materials, so it will be subject to constant review.

Mr. Rodríguez Guerrero, editor of Azogue Journal, has been published in his current blog resources related to the History of Alchemy, aimed by the same spirit:

<https://buscandolapiedrafilosofal.wordpress.com/>.

Fields of research covered: Coptology, Egyptology, History of Late Antiquity, Intellectual History of the Renaissance, Byzantine and Neo-Greek Studies, History of Alchemy, History of Magic, History of Astrology, History of Hermetism, History of Middle Platonism and Neo Platonism, History of Science, Greek and Latin Epigraphy and Paleography, Archeology of Hellenistic-Roman Egypt, History of Religions.
